A look at Details and how we help make your workplace work. Better.

details

“For a better day at work”... it’s not a shallow mission statement or a contrived marketing phrase, but a direction that sparks the efforts of every Details employee. We do our best to develop, market and deliver the finest ergonomic solutions because we believe that peoples’ everyday work lives can be improved with the use of our products. Innovative products, smart thinking and energized employees... the recipe for making your day just a little bit better.

Details delivers that “something else.” Again and again.

Details doesn't expect individuals to adjust to the equipment. We design equipment that adjusts to individuals and the many ways they work.

Look to Details to provide ergonomic sensibility, to help manage clutter, to organize information, to alleviate eyestrain, to provide healthy ways to handle computing technology and to deliver greater productivity through speech privacy solutions.

Futurists say, “Over the next ten years, businesses face yet another challenge: to retain a highly qualified workforce that is experiencing waning loyalty. As worker populations become increasingly diverse, Facilities will need to react to users and support different ways of thinking, collaborating and communicating.”

Bud Klipa says, “It’s a matter of balance. Details helps support individual workers while satisfying the business demands of those charged with planning and managing today’s offices.”
